HOW TO GET HERE

Fort Payne is located in the NE corner of Alabama and is the southern gateway to the Appalachian Mountains. "Fort Payne" is derived from the name given to the stockade built during the Indian Removal Act of the 1830's. Wills Valley, present day Fort Payne, was once Cherokee Indian Territory and is a beautiful valley that lies between two mountains, Lookout and Sand Mountains. Fort Payne is easily accessible via Interstate 59, Alabama Highway 35, and U.S. Highway 11. It is located 120 miles NW of Atlanta; 90 miles NE of Birmingham; 70 miles E of Huntsville; and, 50 miles S of Chattanooga.
