Day 1: Fort Payne & Mentone

If you're headed to DeKalb County on a Saturday morning, and you plan to arrive early, you can begin your shopping adventure at Collinsville Trade Day. This weekly event is one of the largest outdoor markets in the South, full of antiques, collectibles, tools, fresh produce, children's toys, furniture, and so much more. After stopping in Collinsville, head to Alabama's Mountain Town, Fort Payne. This charming small town lies in the foothills of the Appalachian Mountains, setting the scene for your trip. Start your morning at Myrtle Jane's, a booth-style antique store offering unique gifts and home décor. Next, head down the road to the Mercantile on Gault, a new shop blending timeless antiques, vintage finds, and holistic wellness. Afterwards, stroll through Fort Payne's Historic Mainstreet, where you'll find unique gifts, collectible treasures, and handmade pieces by local artisans at shops like Alice Circle, Katherine's Gallery & Custom Framing, Relics Antiques & Collectibles, Bleu River Home Accents & Candle Bar, and Boom Town Makers Market.

Continue your antique journey at Big Mill Artisans & Antiques, a historic hosiery mill built in 1889 that now houses 21,000 square feet of antiques and collectibles. For lunch, enjoy a variety of soups, sandwiches, and pastas at Vintage 1889, a charming café connected to Big Mill Artisans & Antiques. Another lunch option could be Southern Harvest, a locally owned restaurant that specializes in fresh ingredients and southern comfort food located at the top of Hwy 35 on the Lookout Mountain Parkway. As you continue your drive north on the parkway, stop at Barnyard Antiques, a unique family-owned and operated shop atop Lookout Mountain. If you like interesting roadside attractions, be sure to walk next door to see the junk art of Ekim Snaggog, a local artist who uses found objects to create incredible sculptures, including robots, animals, and even a dinosaur!

In the afternoon, continue your journey on the Lookout Mountain Parkway to Mentone. This quaint mountain village is home to a variety of antique stores and unique local shops. Begin at the Log Cabin Craft Village, an area of unique stores clustered together with a large selection of pottery, art, antiques, gourmet coffee, and food found in the heart of Mentone. After exploring this unique shopping area, continue east on Highway 117 South. Stop by the Mentone Market to grab a snack, refuel, and browse gifts made by local artisans. If you're interested in pottery, visit Rocky Top Pottery across the street. Afterwards, continue your antique adventure with visits to Triple G Trading Post, Moon Lake Trading Co., Moon Lake Village, and Ayers Antiques. Indulge in a wonderful meal at a local restaurant such as Wildflower Café or Elevation Bistro before winding down your first day. Enjoy a cozy stay at one of Mentone's many cabins.
